

BUST OF ROBINSON

S. A. HESSE COMPLETES CLAY MODEL OF THE EX-GOVERNOR.

Extraordinary Work of Art by a Man Who Makes No Fuss and Wants No One Else to Make Any—Has Been at Work Three Weeks Preparing to Enter the Contest for Contract of Making a Thousand Dollars Marble Bust of Ex-Governor Charles Robinson Which is to be Placed in the State University at Lawrence.

"Yes, sir, I am a marble cutter, but that doesn't tell anything. Anybody can cut marble. It takes some ability and effort, though, to cut imagery from marble."

That was the rather critical reply Stephen Hesse made to an introductory inquiry addressed to him yesterday evening.

"What do you want done?"

"Nothing. I understand that you have entered the contest for the contract of making a bust of ex-Governor Charles Robinson, to be placed in the State University, and for which the legislature last winter appropriated $1,000."

Mr. Hesse, who is a big, six-foot, good natured German, turned half around from the Eagle man and with his face all awry, said:

"My, my, man! You mustn't begin making a fuss about that now. I don't want anything said about it. Not at all, sir. This contest is open to the best talent of the country and you must not say a thing about it, for I'm way off here in Wichita and not known."

"I'd like to see your work," pleadingly.

"Not a thing must go in the paper."

"How long have you been at work on the matter?"

"That's all right."

"Then you won't give me a story at all?"

"No. However, if you'll wait I'll show you what I've done, but not for the public."

The reporter waited while Mr. Hesse watered and tied two cows he had just brought in from the plow field. Without any further words he led the way to his workshop in a room next to his parlor. It did not look much like a workshop. There were pictures on the wall, steel engravings of ex-Governor Robinson, two or three sharp sticks and a bulky figure wrapped in dark wet rags resting on a wooden frame. Mr. Hesse walked up to the object and very carefully took the wet cloths off.

"It's like the pictures, only more natural," you would say. There is ex-Governor Robinson. Strong, intellectual face, heavy beard, narrow standing collar and long black tie.

In the engraving which was made while Mr. Robinson was governor, he is in dress suit, but Mr. Hesse has put a sort of military dignity into the clay model by hanging an overcoat loosely around the governor's shoulders.

"Fine!" exclaimed the reporter.

"That's all right," Mr. Hesse replied in broad German voice. "I take taffy. Will sleep well tonight and enjoy tomorrow the better. But I know I am not done. We all feed out taffy and we all like it."

"Tell me about the whole work."

"I've been at it three weeks. Got the clay out here at the cemetery and it's first rate. Most clay, however, in this country has too much gypsum in it to work well. When this done I'll make a plaster paris mold so it will be solid, and then bring my work before the commission. From these models the commission will award the contract for a marble bust."

"This model is certainly extraordinary work. Where were you educated?"

"Berlin, Paris, Rome. I came here from Germany in 1881. Emperor William was captain of my regiment."

"Hor old are you, Mr. Hesse?"

"That's neither here nor there. I'm married. I'm happy enough that I wish I'd married ten years sooner. I'll be 40 in March."

"It would be of interest to know whom you married."

"Well, when we thresh wheat, let's not make mince pies. That's off the subject. If there's a happier man than I am I'd go 5,000 miles to see him."

RUSSEY GETS A STAY OF EXECUTION

Wichita Traveling Man Out Yet on a Bond of Two Thousand Dollars.

EA. Russey, a Wichita traveling man, convicted of the abduction of two young girls at Augusta, for immoral purposes, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, secured a stay of execution in the supreme court at Topeka yesterday. Bail was fixed at $2,000.

It will be remembered that Russey, along with some Augusta parties, was arrested at Augusta about a year ago. When the trial came the Augusta suspects were dismissed and Russey got a change of venue to Elk county and was convicted at Howard in May.

FRACTURE OF THE FEMUR

Mrs. John Hoagland Received a Fall on Main Street Yesterday.

Mrs. John Hoagland, who is 77 years of age, fell on the sidewalk on North Main street yesterday and sustained a fracture of the right femur at the hip joint. She was put in a wagon belonging to the Wichita Produce company, which was passing at the time and was filled with hay. The patrol wagon was called, but the best to convey her to her home, at 813 North Lawrence avenue. The injury is such that, considering her age, there is no hope of her ever having the use of her leg again.

LEAHY'S BROGUE IS COMPLIMENTED

At Topeka the Newspapers Call it a Charm and Delight.

The Topeka Mail and Breeze says: "Dave Leahy, the new Topeka correspondent of the Kansas City Times, is about the most interesting personality among the newspaper fraternity of the capital city. He was born about forty-one years ago in Tipperary county, Ireland, and is the descendant of an Irish nobility. He came to America when a boy of twenty with several thousand dollars and no experience. In a year he had contributed his cash to the circulating per capita and had acquired some experience. How he happened to drift into the newspaper business we do not know, but he soon showed a development that amounted to genius. Some of his stories have been denominated by the ignorant and unappreciative as 'fakes,' whereas they rose to the dignity of well-told romance, a high order of fiction. Some writers of fiction are so clumsy in their style that the most unpracticed eye can detect the unreasonableness of the statement, but with Dave Leahy there is an attention to details and apparent candor of statement that would deceive the Elder Pinkerton. When he told the sorrowful story of an unfortunate child in western Kansas that fell seventy-five feet into a bored well and there remained for a period of six days, it caused a sensation among the tender-hearted from ocean to ocean. His story of the unfortunate Frenchman who was held as a hostage in an Oklahoma cave by a band of negroes and fed on wild onions and gypsum water pending the detention of John Waller in a French prison, stirred the ruling powers of the French republic, and was the occasion for an extended diplomatic correspondence between the United States and France. His last story, about an unfortunate brother and sister, who had been separated in infancy, afterward meeting by chance, falling in love with each other, marrying, living a happy wedded life for thirty-five years, and raising a family of seventeen deaf and dumb children, finally by accident finding out their relationship during a family reunion at their home in Mulvane, Kan., is still going the rounds of the plate syndicates. Dave is an exceptionally handsome Irishman, with a head that requires a number eight hat and a brogue that is a charm and a delight."

Classification of Work Completed Yesterday—Will Begin June 22, and Last Six Weeks—Special Kindergarten and Musical Work by Misses Shultz and Clark—Lecture on X Rays by Professor T. H. Dismore of the State Normal—Program of Exercises Arranged by the Hour—To Spend the Summer in the City.

County Superintendent Colville yesterday completed the program for the next county teachers' institute, to be held in the Lewis academy building beginning June 22.

For the second time in the history of the county there will be a six weeks' term, with special music and kindergarten features. The instructors are as follows:

Conductor—J. V. Colville, county superintendent.

Instructors—J. M. Naylor, Ph. D., and H. B. Scott, A. M. of Lewis academy; C. P. Adams, A. M. of Wichita Business College; Miss Carrie C. Shultz, formerly of Wichita; Miss Jessie L. Clark of Wichita.

Owing to the special work in music and primary work, Mr. Colville has received letters from many teachers of surrounding counties who expect to come here to avail themselves of this feature of the work.

The work in music by Miss Jessie L. Clark will occur in the evening from 7 to 8 o'clock, so that students can take all the regular work during the day and the entire thirty lessons of special work in music.

Quoting from Mr. Colville's circular, this will be of interest to teachers and school people:

This lecture will be free to all enrolled in the normal.

Miss Shultz, who has spent the past two years in making further preparation in kindergarten work in the Armour institute at Chicago, will have charge of the primary department. Only pupils who have been in school one or two years will be admitted. Tuition in this department, one dollar for the entire six weeks for each child. Tuition for teachers for entire institute course, or any part of it, $1.50.

Any one wishing to take advantage of the music or primary work, both or either, or of the special mathematical work, or any combination of these, with the regular work, will be allowed the privilege.

OVER SEVEN HUNDRED LOTS

On a Deed Made Over to Abraham S. Hewitt, New York.

One of the longest deeds on record in this county was filed with Register Carnahan yesterday by Geo. K. Spencer.

It was a sheriff's deed of the Peel Investment company's property to Abram S. Hewitt, the noted New York politician and mayor of giddy Gotham. It contained the description of more than 700 pieces of property in Allerton, Firebaugh, Miller and Heller additions.

The proof of death of Mrs. Mary Kerr, a member of Wichita lodge No. 18, was submitted to the board of claims on May 18th and on the 25th a draft for the full amount of policy carried was received by the lodge treasurer, Miss Lizie Dickinson, to be paid to the beneficiaries. The order was nine years old yesterday, has paid 150 death losses and 28 disability claims, and there has only been an average of nine assessments per year levied to meet the payments of those losses and claims.
